Author from France Shares Truth About Biblical Wealth

FRANCE - Author Marty Delmon has responded to the growing epidemic of financial decline in churches and Christian families.

Marty Delmon wrote Destined for Success out of personal experience. Shortly after her new birth into the Lord Jesus Christ, someone handed her a cassette by Kenneth Copeland entitled, You Can Have What You Want From God. The information heard on the cassette, based on the Bible, inspired her to pursue studying more about the subject.

It amazed her to learn she did not have to earn God's love and favor. She knew He gave her the forgiveness gained by Jesus, and He gave her eternal life with Him without price. But to discover that He already loved her and that He waited almost impatiently for her to give Him permission to pour out His favor and His prosperity on her was staggering news.

So she set out to put Him to the test. Oddly enough, putting God to the test is only allowed in this one area: finances. All the rest of our needs must rest on our faith. God said to prove Him, or to test Him in matters of money and just see if He wouldn't be faithful and not only meet our needs, but also the desires of our hearts. She found Him to be true and trustworthy.

While attending Rhema Bible Training Center, the classes she took revealed the Scriptures that guaranteed her success, if she would apply them as the Lord had ordained. It is by the application of these Scriptures that Marty has been able to successfully remain on the Mission field, with certain seasons at home for personal reasons, for 23 years.

Her country, France, is one of the most expensive countries in the world and the missionaries God sends there don't last. That is why so few French are born again. There's only one Christian worker for every 60,000 people. It's called a missionaries graveyard. Marty has lasted and intends to stay at least until she is 15 years beyond retirement! She knows the Lord will always provide because she follows His commands about money.

Everything in this book has been tried and tested by the author and that is what gives her the right to write such an audacious work stating that every believer is destined for success. It's a God-given right. If you have the courage to read Destined for Success and the single-mindedness to put the principles to work for you, you cannot help but be successful.
